“The Lord does not let the righteous go hungry”
(Proverbs 10:3)

"God answered our prayers," said Azeem Daniel, after his family was accepted on a Barnabas feeding programme. “This will help our next generation to get out of the dark pits of poverty.”

Azeem, from northern Pakistan, looks for work every morning as a daily labourer, and is always unsure what his income will be, if any. “There are days when I do not find any work and in situations like these it’s very difficult,” he said. Not knowing week to week whether they could afford to feed their family, Azeem and his wife used to pray constantly for God to change their lives.

The couple were thrilled to gain help from a Barnabas Fund feeding programme, which distributes parcels of basic food items through local churches to poor Christians every month. It means families can focus on other needs, such as household bills, essential repairs, or paying for children’s schooling. Azeem and his wife plan to prioritise their children's education, so they can escape the cycle of illiteracy and poverty.

Sonia Yousaf, who lost her husband to cancer in 2017, was struggling to earn enough as a maid to feed her three children and buy medicine for her diabetic son, Jason. Monthly food parcels have transformed the family’s situation. Sonia can now afford the vital medication and feels motivated and supported as a single working mum. “I don’t have to worry about food, I can just focus on [Jason] and my energy can go somewhere else,” she said.

As a persecuted minority, Pakistani Christians are often forced to take the lowliest of jobs, working as street cleaners, sewer workers, domestic maids, or rubbish collectors. Many are daily labourers and have no guarantee of finding work.

Monthly parcels contain staple food items like rice, flour, sugar, lentils, chilli, salt, cooking oil and tea and cover around 50% of a family’s food needs. It means families have some money left over from their earnings to send children to school, pay for medical treatment, or essential home improvements like installing a front door or a water pump.
“Whoever believes in me, as Scripture has said, rivers of living water will flow from within them” (John 7:38)

By joining Living Streams you can become part of a continuous life-flow helping Christians living with pressure and persecution around the world. One impactful and enduring way to do this is to sustain a Christian family living in severe poverty with a monthly food parcel. This will mean they never have to go hungry, and also brings positive change to many other areas of their lives.

If you give a regular monthly gift, we will send you a prayer card with a photograph and details of the family you are sustaining, as well as regular news updates. The cost of a monthly food parcel in Pakistan is £20. But you can join Living Streams and help sustain a family by giving any regular amount, large or small.

Unfortunately, we cannot normally arrange for the exchange of letters between you and the family. This is due to security issues in regions of persecution, and so that we can keep administration costs down and maximise the help given to the family.
